The Southwest Editorial Association will meet at Greensburg on November 15, having accepted a special invitation extended by the Commercial Club of that city. While the program has not yet been completed, it is understood that the meeting is to be an interesting one, and long to be remembered by the editors of this section of Kansas.

Ed. J. Wehrle, recently underwent an operation at the Baptist Hospital, St. Louis, for disease contracted while in active service in the United States Army, in the Philippine Islands. Since his return from the Islands, more than ten years ago, his health has been greatly impaired by the disease contracted while in the army, and he was advised by physicians that the only hope for a permanent cure, would be an operation, which, under the care of Dr. Carrol Smith, he has successfully undergone. He is now out of the hospital, and it is hoped that the disease from which he has so long been suffering, has at last been checked. Ed formerly lived in Meade and relatives and friends here hope that he will soon regain his usual good health.

is the name of the big fifteen thousand dollar serial story which will appear in The Weekly Kansas City Star soon, for the news paper rights of which the author received $15,000. The story, pronounced the greatest this popular novelist has written, will not be published as a book until it has run serially in this newspaper.

The theme is the Italian Mafia, against that sinister background the author has thrown the softer colors of an absorbing and fascinating love story. The story, while tragic in one, has the humor, sprightliness and action that has characterized his previous success.

"The Net" will be continued in liberal installments each week, with fifteen powerful illustrations by Howard Giles. The subscription price of The Weekly Kansas City Star is 25 cents a year.

Ex-President Roosevelt has returned to his home at Oyster Bay. The attempt upon his life was made on Monday of last week by an anarchist by the name of John W. Shrank. Such an act is to be deplored by the entire nation. It makes no difference under what political colors Mr. Roosevelt is sailing, how many times he has been a candidate, or what policies he is advocating, he is entitled to the same protection as any other citizen. While our political views differ from those of Mr. Roosevelt, still he has the same right to his opinion as we, or any other individual, have to ours. Regardless of the policies advocated by any candidate, men have a right to cast their ballot for whom they choose. The man who made the attempt has much to answer for and should be dealt with in no easy manner.

Gilmore Brown.

In these days when the stage has many clever actors and few great ones it is very seldom that a creative genius is seen in the theatre. Critics and public alike are just beginning to realize that no one in the younger generation of actors has come forward more remarkably as an artistic player of wonderful possibility and versatility combined than Gilmore Brown. Three years ago Mr. Brown was utterly unknown in the theatrical world. Today he has one of the largest followings of any independent star on the road. His achievements in the intervening space of time have been varied and remarkable. He has given us a Shylock, a Petruchio and a Romeo that are wonderfully vivid, original and individual. His performances in "Strongheart," in "The Tyranny of Tears," in "David Garrick," "Ingomar" and "The Ironmaster" have shown his great capabilities in every line of character.

This season Mr. Brown will appear in the dual role of the King of Ruritania and Rudolph Rassendy, in "The Prisoner of Zenda" taken from Anthony Hope's world famous novel of the same name. Hutchinson Gazette.
